AXIS DEER HIDES

Axis deer have gorgeous coloring and are ideal for decoration, wall mountings, and floor displays that are not walked on. Deer have hollow hair and if you walk on them or let a large dog sit on them, the hair will break and shed over time. Note that axis deer have spots on the spine and fallow deer do not. The small are under 30", the medium are 30" to 40", the large are 40" to 50", and the extra large hides are 50" or longer from the tip of the neck to the base of the tail. These axis deer skins are alum tanned. Hides may or may not include tails.

The upholstery grade skins are in high demand for high-end furniture manufacturing (e.g. chair backings). These deer were harvested from ranches and most of the deer will be used including the meat. The skin is saved and tanned. (Axis axis, ranch).

Product of the USA

The regular hides are trading post grade and are not as nice as the upholstery grade. Axis deer are not endangered. In fact, there are so many of these, that culling operations are undertaken to keep them from becoming overpopulated and damaging the ecosystem. The animals are not killed just for their skins. Our supplier tells us that 97% of the animal is re-purposed for meat, pet food, antlers for decoration, etc. The skin is saved and tanned. (Axis axis, wild).

REINDEER HIDES

The Reindeer hides from Finland are beautiful decorative skins that make gorgeous wall decorations. Because they have hollow hair, they should not be walked on, sat upon, or used for dog beds. Our return policy extends only to hides that are unsatisfactory for any reason at the time of receipt. Once accepted, no returns or refunds will be made for shopworn or used hides at a later date.

The measurements below are approximate. Please see our detailed entry on reindeer hides on the website. (Rangifer tarandus, ranch).

Imported from Sweden, these #2 high grade reindeer hides are characterised by bug bites and other minor flaws. They range in size between 44" to 48" long across the middle, the calf hides being generally smaller than adult hides. The treated reindeer hides have their undersides treated to help protect from wear, water, and salt, so it can be used outdoors. (Rangifer tarandus, ranch).
